Exmoor home learning - 18.10.24

We had a great time creating parachutes in science to test the effects of air resistance, we discussed testing different variables to make the best parachute, we also made sure to follow steps to keep it a fair test. In English, we have been looking at poetry and looking at different journeys that we could write our own poem about. In art, the children enjoyed using our sketching skills to sketch pictures.

Home learning

My Maths

Please complete the homework I have set you on My Maths.

Reading

We expect everyone to be reading at least five times a week. Please see the front of your home learning book for the expectations.

Times tables

Have a go at practising your 9 times table, see if you notice any patterns that may help you remember them.
