Lundy home learning - 12.09.25

It's been a busy week in Lundy Class. In English, we have practised generating similes, used adjectives for precise description and written a range of adverbial phrases. In maths, we have learned to solve problems that require us to multiply and divide by 10, 100 and 1000 and have begun rounding increasingly more complex numbers. In art, we have been comparing the work of different landscape artists. In science, we have learned about the physical and mental changes as humans move into the later stages of adulthood.

Home learning

We will soon be voting for school council roles. Your homework this week is finish off your PowerPoints outlining the role you would like to be nominated for, and why you would be good at this. Please send this to the school office and they will make sure that I receive this.

The roles include:

- Eco committee
- Charity committee
- Sports committee
- Arts committee
- Chair
- Vice chair
- Treasurer
- Secretary

The deadline for PowerPoints is Friday 19th September.

Reading

We expect everyone to be reading at least five times a week. We are almost ready to go live with the new recording system; we are hopeful that this will be ready in the next week or so.
