Exmoor Home Learning - 31.1.25

We have had a great week this week comparing decimal numbers and finding their equivalent fractions, the children show lots of perseverance and resilience! The children all planned out their factual information about their chosen invention ready for their final piece of writing next week. In science, the children had a fun (but messy) time investigating solids and liquids by making oobleck; a mixture of 2 parts cornflour and 1 part water. The children created their beautiful final pieces in art which look wonderful!

Home learning:

Chinese New Year

As it is Chinese New Year, find out about the year you were born linked to the Chinese Calendar. Read through the information on the following web page
(This can count as one of your weekly reads!)

Try to answer these questions:

- How is the Chinese New Year different to the UK new year celebrations?
- How is each of the Chinese years named?
- What do Chinese families do at Lunar New Year?
- What colour has special importance for the Chinese at Lunar New Year?
- What happens on the final night?

Reading

We expect everyone to be reading at least five times a week. Please see the front of your home learning book for the expectations.
