Tarka class learning

This week we have been learning about instructions. The children had a go at writing instructions on how to decorate a Christmas tree. They followed instructions to make paper lanterns. The first set of instructions were simplified and we discussed how difficult it was to make the lanterns accurately. When we followed the detailed instructions, we were much more successful! We learnt that instructions need: Numbers (to order the instructions); details to tell us how, when and where, pictures or diagrams to make the instructions easier to follow.

Tarka class had a go at using a flint in Forest School to make a spark, ready for making a fire next week! They are looking forward to toasting marshmallows 😊

The children enjoyed being creative with patterned paper, sequins, buttons and ribbon to make a collage picture for their Christmas cards.
